Flame Festival at Kryal Castle

Winter is coming! Instead of hibernating indoors Kryal Castle is encouraging visitors to grab a coat, embrace the season and warm up at The Festival of the Flame these school holidays.

Visitors to The Castle can enjoy stories beside the fire in the rotunda, watch the spectacular 'Fire Joust' as The Castle Knights battle with flaming lances and swords on the Main Arena or simply warm yourself at one of the blazing braziers around the grounds as you enjoy the roving entertainment.

Families are also encouraged to stay and enjoy traditional fare and entertainment for a Medieval Feast fit for a King in The Castle Abbey (Saturday 7 July)*.

Plus all our traditional activities will still be on offer. You can visit the Wizard's apprentice in The Wizard's Workshop, try your hand at calligraphy or test yourself with indoor archery.

Why not book a family stay and play package on-site at Castle Suites to immerse yourself in everything a Ballarat Winterlude experience has to offer?

When: Saturday June 27 - Sunday July 12

Where: Kryal Castle, 121 Forbes Rd, Leigh Creek

Entry: Adult $31, Concession $25, Children $19, Family $89.

Kryal Castle

Is there really a 700 year old castle on a hill outside Ballarat, just one hour from Melbourne? Kryal Castle is, in truth, only a 40 year old theme park, but it is a well-executed one following a multi-million dollar redevelopment. Reopened in March 2013 as Kryal Castle Adventure Park and Resort, this is Australia's only medieval adventure park, and recreates a legendary land of myths and medieval adventure with knights, dragons, wizards, kings, queens, princesses and fairies.

When: Kryal Castle is open from 10am - 4pm weekends, school holidays and public holidays.

Sovereign Hill

It's just like stepping back in time to gold rush Ballarat during the 1850s - from the hustle and bustle of Main Street where costumed ladies and gents parade their new-found wealth, to the excitement of the Red Hill Gully Diggings where visitors pan for real gold and it's 'finders keepers'!

Visitors can see a $150,000 gold pour, ride in a horse-drawn carriage and watch street performers, including the Redcoat Soldiers who march and drill before firing their muskets. Along Main Street, there are shops selling 1850s-style goods, hotels and schools to visit, and a theatre with goldfields entertainment. For the adventurous, there are underground mine tours with an inclined tramway ride. And those with a special interest in 19th century trades can chat with skilled craftsmen at work in the blacksmith's forge, the candle works, the wheelwright's plant, the coachbuilder's and the confectionery factory.

By night, Sovereign Hill presents its spectacular, multi-million dollar sound-and-light show, 'Blood on the Southern Cross' - the legendary story of the 1854 Eureka Uprising, a great Australian drama.

When: Open every day except Christmas Day.

Where: Sovereign Hill, Bradshaw St, Ballarat

Entry: Adult $52.50, Children 5-15 $23.80, U5 free

M.A.D.E

The Museum of Australian Democracy At Eureka is Australia's newest museum, opening on 4 May 2013 on the site of the Eureka Stockade in Ballarat. M.A.D.E re-imagines what a museum can be with its digitally immersive, state-of-the-art exhibitions and a national digital platform. It has a number of iconic objects such as the evocative 159-year-old Eureka Flag but most of the collection is digital. The contemporary museum offers a range of innovative education programs and is a showcase of rich, layered, interactive content. M.A.D.E is an ideas hub and regularly streams events from and to its state of the art theatre (capacity 114). There is also a café, gift shop and an outdoor precinct.

When: Open 7 Days from 10am-5pm (closed Christmas Day and Boxing Day)

Where: M.A.D.E - Museum of Australian Democracy at Eureka, 102 Stawell St South, Ballarat

The Inimitable Mr Meek:

James McKain Meek was a pioneer of the Ballarat gold fields, where he ran a store and soda water factory, and lived subsequently at Warrnambool and New Zealand. A skilled draughtsman, he delighted in exercising his skill in miniature penmanship and through his life produced a series of large, intricate drawings to commemorate aspects of local history and to promote the colony of Victoria. This exhibition will be curated by Joan Luxemburg, who is writing a PhD thesis on the life and work of this fascinating and eccentric artist.

Australia's Robinson Crusoe:

In 1898, British audiences were thrilled to read in the Wide World Magazine of the adventures of the explorer Louis de Rougemont, and the thirty-five years he had spent as a castaway with the cannibals of NW Australia. This exhibition brings together artworks produced in response to his thrilling adventure stories, from original illustrations by Alfred Pearse for the Wide World Magazine, to original gouaches by Australian illustrator Frané Lessac for Mark Greenwood's 2012 children's book The Greatest Liar on Earth, and posters for productions of Shipwrecked!, a play based on his story by American playwright Donald Margulies.

The Glass Garden

Dena Kahan's work is a meditation on desire and the gap that exists between fantasy and reality, imagination and execution. This exhibition draws from her body of work based on the famous Blaschka Glass Flower collection in the Harvard Museum of Natural History in Boston. These seductive paintings subvert the order and controlled environment of the museum. They play with ambiguities of scale and space and the reflective qualities of glass. While the beauty of the flowers and their strange metamorphoses into glass remain a key feature of the work, the museum case is transformed into a kind of fantasy garden.
